

Educate

the next generation of leaders

Engage

with classrooms and communities
with cultural relevancy

Empower

young people by reflecting their value in the classroom and to the city.

Apply to NYC Men Teach at Brooklyn College.

The program aims to improve the diversity of the NYC teaching workforce by adding 1,000 male teachers of color into the teacher pipeline by 2018.

Participants receive academic and financial support throughout the certification and hiring process, as well as access to a dedicated counselor who will help with advisement and academic supports.

You may be eligible if you:

- Are a currently enrolled CUNY student who is accepted into, or intends to apply to, a CUNY Teacher Education program
- Have a minimum 3.0 cumulative GPA
- Have experience working/volunteering in urban communities
- Have already completed 24 credits toward an associate degree or 45 credits toward a bachelor's degree, or are currently enrolled in a CUNY graduate teacher education program

Enrolled CUNY students who do not meet the full criteria may be accepted as a "pipeline" student with at least a 2.75 cumulative GPA.

For more information and to apply online, please visit www.cuny.edu/nycmenteach

Contact:

Shemeka K. Brathwaite, MEd
Program Manager, NYC Men Teach
2107A James Hall

P: 718.951.5000 Ext. 3583

E: shemeka.brathwaite97@brooklyn.cuny.edu

NYC Men Teach is part of the Young Men's Initiative and run in partnership between the Office of the Mayor, the New York City Department of Education, and CUNY.

All programs and activities of the NYC Men Teach program are open to all eligible applicants, without regard to race, gender, national origin or other characteristic protected by law.

Brooklyn
College

