Afternoon Tea
Faculty Scholarship Symposia

All are welcome to join us! Learn about the work of your colleagues. Throughout the year we will be bringing together faculty to celebrate their creative and scholarly pursuits.

These “afternoon tea” symposia are intended for a broad audience to showcase the breadth of academic work being done by faculty at Brooklyn College. Each symposium will feature presenters from multiple disciplines.

Wednesday, October 20, 2021 | 3:45–5 p.m.
Hosted by Dean April Bedford, School of Education
Via Zoom – Register Here for Meeting Info

- Frederick Wasser • Television, Radio and Emerging Media • Vast Changes in Media Industries
- Christopher Ebert • History • Bahian Tobacco in the Early-Modern Global Economy
- Meral Kaya • Childhood, Bilingual and Special Education • Diversity and Global Awareness through Multicultural Children’s Books in Teacher Education
- Bernardita Llanos • Modern Languages/Women’s & Gender Studies • Gender and the Law in Chile: Pinochet-era Crimes of Sexual Violence

---

Wednesday, November 17, 2021 | 3:45–5 p.m.
Hosted by Dean Peter Tolias, School of Natural and Behavioral Science
Via Zoom – Register Here for Meeting Info

- Zhongqi Cheng • Earth and Environmental Sciences • Soils in the City: Path to Urban Sustainability
- Frans Albarillo • Library • Research Productivity, Job Performance, and Professional Identity: A Look at the Institute of Research Design in Librarianship
- Theodore Muth • Biology • Urban Microbial Ecology
- Andrew Arlig • Philosophy • Ascent to God and the ‘Annihilation’ of the Self According to Some Medieval Islamic Thinkers

Sponsored by the Office of the Associate Provost for Faculty and Administration. Visit www.brooklyn.cuny.edu/apfa to learn about other opportunities and upcoming events!