NIGHTSHIFT NYC

Russell Leigh Sharman, professor of anthropology at Brooklyn College, is a writer and anthropologist. He received his PhD in cultural anthropology from Oxford University in 1999. His latest book, NIGHTSHIFT NYC, is due out Fall 2008 from the University of California Press. His first book, The Tenants of East Harlem was described by the Oral History Review as “simply excellent.” He has published and presented numerous essays on urban life, culture and aesthetics, and received grants and awards from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Whiting Foundation and others. He also writes plays, movies, and television shows and has worked as a waiter, line cook, and as a production assistant on a civil war zombie vampire movie. He lives in Brooklyn with his wife and co-author, Cheryl Harris Sharman.
