

The Wolfe Institute

The Ethyle R. Wolfe Institute for the Humanities, in cooperation with the Program in Journalism and the Department of English, presents

A Newspaper Grows in Brooklyn

This panel will mark the 10th anniversary of The Brooklyn Rail, and will be led by the editor, Ted Hamm, Anthony Mancini, professor of journalism, and Ron Howell, professor of journalism. The panel will focus on the new emphasis in journalism on hyperlocal reporting and the trials and triumphs of covering Brooklyn. Hamm says The Brooklyn Rail's "real commitment is less to a program than to a place, or better yet, to a set of traditions that place represents. We originate from, and declare ourselves to be in some way representative of Brooklyn, so we must pay homage to a more than estimable literary heritage."
