2011 Martin and Syma Mendelsohn Lecture in International Relations

Ambassador Giulio Terzi di Sant'Agata

Ambassador of Italy to the United States

Ambassador Terzi assumed his duties as Ambassador of Italy to the United States on October 1st, 2009. He was previously Italy's Permanent Representative to the United Nations, where he also headed the Italian Delegation to the Security Council, which Italy had joined as non permanent member for the 2007-2008 term. Afghanistan, humanitarian intervention and protection of civilians in armed conflicts, were among the major issues Ambassador Terzi focused on during his presence on the Council. He will address current issues of importance to both Italy and the United States, including immigration issues arising from recent events across North Africa.
