

The Wolfe Institute

The Ethyle R. Wolfe Institute for the Humanities, in collaboration with the Departments of History, Political Science, Puerto Rican and Latino Studies, Sociology, and the Black Latino Male Initiative, presents

The Long Movement Against Police Brutality in New York City

Clarence Taylor is a professor in the department of history at Baruch College, CUNY. His research interests are the modern civil rights and the black power movements, African-American religion, and the modern history of New York City. Born and raised in Brooklyn, Taylor pursued his undergraduate studies at Brooklyn College, and received his Ph.D. from the Graduate Center. His published works include The Black Churches of Brooklyn from the 19th Century to the Civil Rights Era (Columbia University Press, 1994), Knocking at Our Own Door: Milton A. Galamison and the Struggle to Integrate New York City Schools (Columbia University Press, 1996), Black Religious Intellectuals: The Fight for Equality from Jim Crow to the 21st Century (Routledge 2002), and Reds at the Blackboard: Communism, Civil Rights and the New York City Teachers Union (Columbia University Press, 2011).

Tuesday, November 22, 2016

2:15 to 3:30 p.m.

Woody Tanger Auditorium

Brooklyn College Student Library

For information: 718.951.5847 wolfeinstitute@brooklyn.cuny.edu Twitter: twitter.com/Wolfe_Institute