20th Anniversary Faculty Day Conference

Brooklyn College • May 25, 2016
www.brooklyn.cuny.edu/facultyday

This year we are celebrating the 20th anniversary of the Faculty Day Conference. We invite you to participate in the exchange of ideas – a day filled with thought-provoking, absorbing, and sometimes controversial topics. The faculty presentations and contributions at the conference are what makes it such a wonderful experience each year.

Given the wide variety of academic backgrounds at the college, we strongly encourage proposal considered from an interdisciplinary perspective and contributions from a range of viewpoints. All faculty (full-time and part-time) and professional staff are invited to submit ideas for the conference.

Proposals should be submitted by Thursday, December 10, 2015 using the online form on the Faculty Day Conference website or you may drop off your proposal at 3227 Boylan Hall. Please e-mail any questions to Myra Kogen at mkogen@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

Types of presentations or activities commonly proposed

Panel Discussion. A presentation of multiple perspectives on a major topic that will be of wide general interest. Typically, each 75-minute panel involves 3 presenters and a moderator, often from different disciplines.

Individual Presentation. An opportunity to share your ideas, interests and creative work or talent with your colleagues across the college. Your presentation may be combined with other relevant topics in a panel format.

Creative and Active Formats. This is an opportunity for active participation and learning that can include discussion, performance, groupwork, role playing, debate, etc. Materials may be made available ahead of time to facilitate discussion.

Luncheon roundtable. Several people lead informal discussions on a topic of common interest at a session during lunch. Discussion is open to all participants who wish to join the table.

Poster Session. On a poster board, the authors present research findings or describe an ongoing program or investigation.

Art Gallery. Plan to show your photos, paintings, sculpture and crafts at the poster session.

Works in progress and previously submitted pieces are welcome in all categories. Please visit www.brooklyn.cuny.edu/facultyday to learn more about the conference and submit your proposals online.

Perfect bridge between scholarly and pedagogical...

To learn about
my coworkers
work

Spirited but constructive
debate

The range of ideas!

Seeing faculty and staff with whom I rarely have time to interact

Hearing from my colleagues about what they're researching

Presentations
were terrific

A platform to share ideas.

The presenters
all had a good time
and there were plenty of questions and commentary from the audience

Chatting with colleagues at the posters

Chance to hear
my colleagues
present their

The ability to have conversations with others across the
