

Call for Proposals

24th Annual Faculty Day Conference

Brooklyn College • Tuesday, May 19, 2020

brooklyn.cuny.edu/facultyday

The multitude of presentations and dynamic discussions at the Faculty Day Conference are what make it such a wonderful experience each year. We invite you to participate in this exchange of ideas. We anticipate this to be a day filled with thought-provoking, absorbing, and sometimes controversial topics.

Given the wide variety of academic backgrounds at the college, proposals considered from an interdisciplinary perspective and contributions from a range of viewpoints are strongly encouraged. All faculty (full- and part-time) and professional staff are invited to submit proposals for the conference.

We welcome presentations in all disciplines and covering any topic. This year the committee is particularly interested in receiving proposals on the following:

Climate Change and Sustainability, Electoral Politics, Environmental Ethics, Public Health, Biotechnology, Ethnic Studies and Multicultural Education, Immigration, Undocumented Students, Interdisciplinarity and Intersectionality, Business and the Public Good, Intellectual Diversity, Academic Momentum

Proposals should be submitted by Monday, December 9, 2019 using the online form on the Faculty Day website.

Please e-mail any questions to Myra Kogen at mkogen@brooklyn.cuny.edu.

Types of presentations or activities commonly proposed

Panel Discussion. A presentation of multiple perspectives on a major topic that will be of wide general interest. This is an opportunity to share your ideas, interests and creative work or talent with your colleagues across the college. Typically, each 75-minute panel involves three presenters and a moderator, often from different disciplines.

Individual Proposal. We also welcome individual proposals. An individual presentation may be combined with other relevant topics in a panel format. We are very happy to help connect you with colleagues from around the college who may share similar area of interest.

Workshop/Short Session. This is an opportunity for active participation and learning that can include discussion, performance, group work, role playing, debate, etc. Materials may be made available ahead of time to facilitate discussion. These are typically 30-minute timeslots..

Luncheon Roundtable. Moderator(s) lead an informal discussion on a topic of common interest at a 10-person table during lunch. Discussion is open to all participants who wish to join.

Poster Session. On a poster board, the authors present research findings or describe an ongoing program or investigation. Help with formatting and printing is available.

Art Gallery. Show your photos, paintings, sculpture and crafts at the poster session.

Works in progress or those previously presented at disciplinary conferences are welcome.
