

The Philosophy Department Presents

SOCIAL H UR

On Thursday, April 11, 2019

From 1:00 PM to 2:00 PM

With

Scott Kravet

Topic: Is human behavior predictable?

Kravet will start this discussion by presenting an argument between John Stuart Mill and John Venn in the 19th century about predicting human behavior. He will present this issue in the context of the free will versus determinism debate, making it a 21st century issue, and propose a pragmatic way forward.

The discussion will occur in 3308 Boylan Hall!

Refreshments will be served.