

Attention Women of Brooklyn College: The White House Project wants you to...

Go Run! Go Vote! Go Lead!

To all Brooklyn College Women: Students, Faculty, Staff, Alumni
(up through 2000)

You don't need to be a citizen to participate. Everyone is welcome!

What Is the White House Project?

Brooklyn College has attracted the attention of The White House Project, whose goal is to coach women to attain positions of high authority.

The foundation of the White House Project training model began four years ago as a program known as Vote, Run, Lead. Since 2004, the project has trained 6,000 women to lead a political life.

2008 marked a triumphant year with 114 of the alumnae running for elective office and nearly half resulted in victory!

Don't take our word for it, check out their website at:

When Does the Training Take Place?

There is going to be a kick-off reception hosted by Borough President Marty Markowitz and the Women's Studies Program at Borough Hall, on Tuesday, September 22, from 6 to 8 p.m., where everyone of you who wants to be a part of the training will meet political activists.

Then on campus, on Shirley Chisholm Day, Tuesday, November 24, there will be a featured high profile speaker and a luncheon for the trainees.

The full-day training session will take place on Friday, January 8, 2010, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Yes! I Want to Run! Vote! Lead!
