What to Expect from Online Subject Tutoring

Please see to it that you join the Zoom meeting through a desktop or laptop computer that has any relevant coursework on file, as this will make the tutoring process smoother. Once you have joined the meeting, the tutor will be able to talk through your issues with the material and answer any of your questions as they arise.

In the case of group sessions, tutors will be able to give examples of problems that are being covered and general explanations of the subject material; however, responses to individual questions may be limited. If a given problem or topic has not been covered by the tutor, you are encouraged to make the tutor aware of this at the conclusion of the tutor's presentation.
